PROJECTS

LLM Applications in Reasoning

Pittsburgh, U.S.A

Li Zhang, Morgan Gray, Kevin Ashely

Aug. 2024 -

- Created an innovative multi-agent framework to generate reliable legal arguments through structured collaboration and reflection mechanisms, achieving a decent accuracy rate in argument generation and surpassing state-of-the-art baselines in precedent identification, analogy construction, and case distinction tasks.
- Developed and implemented a comprehensive benchmark suite to evaluate LLMs' case-based legal reasoning capabilities, incorporating over 100 annotated cases. Led collaboration with legal experts to establish evaluation metrics and validate model outputs against expert-defined reasoning standards.

Open-source Compliance Detection

Beijing, China

Li Zhang, ByteDance

Jan. 2020 - May. 2020

- Conducted international regulatory compliance investigations for Free-and-Open-Source Software (FOSS), analyzing various projects and establishing comprehensive technology and investment standards to mitigate compliance risks.
- Contributed to the development of an automated compliance review system that optimized risk assessments for over 20 open-source licenses, cutting review time by 60% while maintaining high accuracy. Trained over 50 team members on the new compliance tools.

Automated Citation Correction

Beijing, China

Li Zhang, Tsinghua Law School

Jun. 2021 - June. 2022

- Collaborated in the design and implementation of an advanced NLP model to automatically detect and correct citation errors, thereby improving accuracy and ensuring compliance with citation standards (Bluebook).
- Applied legal research and data analysis skills to refine citation guidelines and enhance the model's precision in identifying citation format inconsistencies.
